WELCOME TO GREEN MATERIALS 2025

It is with great pleasure that we invite you to the 2nd International Conference on Materials for Green Future, which will take place in the beautiful city of Chiang Mai, Thailand, from April 27 to May 3, 2025. Building on the success of our first edition held in Phuket, this second edition aims to further advance discussions on green materials and their role in addressing global sustainability challenges.

Green materials have now become an integral component of our modern world, with their utilization and significance steadily on the rise. Recent years have witnessed an exponential growth in the global green materials market, with a valuation of approximately $280 billion in 2020, and projections suggesting it will surpass $500 billion by 2026. These materials are the cornerstone of renewable energy technologies, contributing significantly to the substantial increase in solar capacity. Additionally, biodegradable plastics are gaining momentum as sustainable alternatives to traditional plastics, while sustainable building materials are making strides in promoting energy-efficient construction practices. Furthermore, electric vehicle batteries, underpinned by green materials, are pivotal in propelling the transition towards eco-friendly transportation. With consumers increasingly prioritizing sustainability, and policy frameworks evolving to encourage the adoption of green materials, they are not merely environmentally responsible choices; they are also driving innovation, fostering economic growth, and steering us towards a more sustainable future.

Green Materials 2025 aims to bring together experts from academia and industry to explore Materials Science and Nanotechnology and foster collaborative research. We are committed to curating a high-quality program that encourages meaningful interactions and the sharing of insights across disciplines.

In addition, we are thrilled to host a Satellite Symposium from May 02-03, 2025, which will feature senior editors from Advanced Materials, Advanced Functional Materials, and Nature series, who will share valuable insights into publishing in high-impact journals. Esteemed professors will also provide career development strategies for early- and mid-career researchers, offering guidance to help advance your scientific journey.

We warmly invite you to be a part of the Green Materials Conference 2025 – gathering dedicated to exploring the transformative potential of sustainable materials. In a world grappling with environmental challenges, this conference emerges as a beacon of hope and innovation.
